During the presentation, Ms. Ma. Socorro M. Betwag, Senior Statistical Specialist and CBMS Focal Person, shared major insights from the 2024 CBMS preliminary data. Her discussion emphasized how localized data can support evidence-based planning, improve program targeting, and contribute directly to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

The Municipality of Santa Fe's proactive engagement sets the tone for the upcoming CBMS data presentations across the province. In the weeks ahead, PSA-Nueva Vizcaya will continue rolling out the presentation of the 2024 CBMS Preliminary Results to the remaining municipalities, empowering local leaders to craft more responsive and inclusive development policies based on solid data.
