Several topics were discussed such as concepts and definitions of labor and income-related subjects, survey operation and guidelines and use of the Computer Assisted Personal Interviewing (CAPI) system.

The LFS collects data on household members' demographic and socio-economic characteristics, serving as a key source for labor statistics and supporting labor market policy planning. Meanwhile, the FIES provides essential data on family income and spending, used to assess poverty, living standards, and economic disparities across the country.

The field enumeration officially kicks off on 08 July 2025, with SRs expected to visit selected households across the province.
